

On October 16, 2014, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services hosted a national call on preparing America's nurses to safely care for a patient with Ebola.

Nicole Lurie, MD, MSPH, Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response, Mary K. Wakefield, PhD, RN, Administrator of the Health Resources and Services Administration, and experts from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) facilitated the discussion with nurses from across the country.

The call recording is now available at www.hrsa.gov/ebola, where you'll also find information from the CDC, curated by CDC experts specifically for U.S. healthcare workers.