Dear friends and colleagues,

Welcome to Austin and to the National Association of Clinical Nurse Specialists 2018 Annual Conference, Putting the Pieces Together: CNSs Bridging the Gaps in Health Care! I hope you'll take some time while we're in Austin to enjoy the world class music and cultural scene. I know I’m looking forward to seeing some great live music while I’m here. This year’s conference is kicking off a half-day earlier, not to make more time for sightseeing, but to make room for all the fantastic workshops, clinical lectures, symposia and educational sessions, led by clinical nurse specialists and other leaders in nursing and health care.

Don’t worry, we’re still offering pharmacology pre-conference sessions; however, adding this half-day allowed us to include six, new, two-hour sessions on public policy; management of technology in the clinical setting; cutting-edge infection control updates; and writing for publication – all topics our members have been asking us to address more. David S. Nilasena MD, MSPH, MS the Chief Medical Officer of Region VI of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, will present at two of these new workshops on Thursday, March 1 to discuss federal reimbursement and chronic care management. These in-depth workshop sessions will provide attendees with an intensive learning experience. If you like the challenge of case studies and want to interact directly with experts – these new workshop sessions are a must for you!

This year’s conference will feature nearly 50 traditional educational sessions and a dozen clinical lectures and symposia featuring more than 150 speakers! There are also more than 80 poster presentations, including 55 from CNS students, on a range of issues from practices and protocol assessments to quality improvement to intervention strategies and much more. Year after year, the most consistent feedback we hear and receive on our evaluations is how valuable our attendees find the ability to network and meet CNSs from around the country. I know you’ll take advantage of the wonderful Texas hospitality and make new connections here!

Another unique session I hope you’ll plan to attend are our forums. Each forum provides the opportunity for CNSs to directly interact with the members of NACNS task forces. Not only can you give real-time feedback on how ongoing NACNS work impacts your practice, but you can also earn CE credit. Member feedback is critical to the work of each task force, and if you’re interested in helping direct future initiatives and projects, you won’t want to miss this opportunity.

Another first for this year’s event is a luncheon sponsored by the CNS Institute on Friday. Listen to Joe Don Cavender, MSN, RN, CPNP-PC, Vice President and Associate Chief Nursing Officer at Children’s Health System of Texas - Children’s Medical Center Dallas, discuss on how clinical nurse specialists provide value to hospital systems, health policy and how nurses and make a positive impact on patient outcomes. If you haven’t pre-registered for the luncheon, a limited number of tickets will be available for purchase at the door. I hope you’ll join us for the first year of this fundraiser and support a great cause!

Please take a few minutes to review all the sessions and offerings noted in this year’s conference brochure. Select the sessions and workshops that will best support you as you grow in your professional role. To assist you in creating your own customized schedule, we are again using the Grupio app for smart phones that will allow you to create your own conference schedule and keep it handy.

At the close of this year’s conference, you will receive an email from Amedco that will direct you to log in and complete the session and conference evaluations. This system not only saves time and paper, but also allows you to generate your CE certificates! You can also access the system later if you need the certificates later.

Please don’t forget, this is your organization and your meeting! We encourage you take pictures and share them on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram or any other social media platforms you use. You can use and follow our conference hashtag #NACNS18 on Facebook and Twitter. Of course, we will be tweeting about the conference from @NACNS and also posting photos and updates on our Facebook page. If you haven’t already, follow us on these platforms and share your thoughts.

Warm Regards,

Vince Holly, MSN, RN, CCRN, CCNS, ACNS-BC
President, NACNS

Handouts
Presentation handouts are available on the NACNS website. It is not guaranteed that speakers will distribute handouts to all attendees onsite. To access available handouts, use the password: attendee2018 on the NACNS 2018 Conference website, nacns.org/news-and-events/annual-conference/.

Continuing Education Credits
Accreditation Statement - In support of improving patient care, this activity has been planned and implemented by Amedco and National Association of Clinical Nurse Specialists. Amedco is jointly accredited by the American Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.

Credit Designation Statement - Amedco designates this live activity for a maximum of 24.50 contact hours; a maximum of 6 hours for the Pharmacology Pre-conference sessions (morning and evening) and a maximum of 18.5 credits for the full conference. Nurses should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Attendees will record their attendance and complete session evaluations through our new online evaluation system. There will no longer be a paper form to complete. Upon completion of the online evaluation, a certificate will be created for you. An email will be sent to you at the end of the conference.

Endorsements
NACNS does not endorse any products advertised in the onsite program, in the convention tote bag or any products displayed in the exhibit hall.

American Association of Critical-Care Nurses (AACN) | Table #13
AACN Certification Corporation develops and administers certifications for APRNs educated at the graduate-level as clinical nurse specialists, wellness through acute care. The certifications offered cover Adult-Gerontology, Pediatric or Neonatal populations. All certifications are approved for APRN licensure by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing and in all 50 states.

American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC) | Table #2
The ANCC Certification Program is the gold standard for health care professionals. Certification validates a healthcare professional’s specialized knowledge and continuing competency. Achieving ANCC certification demonstrates confidence to the public and commitment to excellence that employers trust. ANCC is the only global certifying body to offer RN, APRN, and interprofessional healthcare certifications in emerging specialties. It is the first to innovate a new credentialing process—the organization holds a U.S. patent for the certification through portfolio, an alternative assessment methodology inclusive of peer review with no exam required.

The University of South Alabama School of Nursing | Table #21
The University of South Alabama has one of the few remaining Clinical Nurse Specialist programs and has an excellent reputation for preparing outstanding professional nurses. The Doctor of Nursing Practice program affords CNS students the opportunity to learn in a supportive online environment that recognizes the special needs of the adult learner.

University of Oklahoma School of Nursing | Table #30
University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee College of Nursing | Table #11
The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee College of Nursing is ranked in the top 15% of national graduate nursing programs by US News & World Report and continues to lead through innovative research and academic programs including BS, MN, DNP, and PhD.

Wolters Kluwer | Table #5
Wolters Kluwer is a leading publisher of medical, health and science publications including Clinical Nurse Specialist, official journal of the National Association of Clinical Nurse Specialists. We offer an extensive selection of medical books, journals and electronic media for doctors, nurses, specialized clinicians and students.
NACNS
2019 ANNUAL CONFERENCE
A Catalyst for Practice Change: The CNS
MARCH 6–9, 2019
Renaissance Orlando, SeaWorld, Orlando
As a Clinical Nurse Specialist with Reading Hospital, you will be inspired to advance nursing practice, improve patient outcomes, and promote professional development. Our philosophy is that the CNS should function as an educator, consultant, mentor, and researcher, while influencing the delivery of care through interactions with patients, family members, and nursing personnel. As part of our team, you will have an impact on organizational systems, participate on committees and team projects, and take an active role in professional organizations and community activities.

- We are a Magnet® designated facility focused on evidence-based practice and a patient-first environment
- Current CNS opportunities are available in Pediatrics (including in-patient Pediatric Unit and Pediatric ED) and Surgical Intensive Care Unit
- We require a CNS Master’s degree (or willingness to complete CNS certification within a year), a Pennsylvania RN license, and ANCC certification
- We offer tuition assistance up to $30,000
- Reading Hospital is part of Tower Health, a leading regional, integrated healthcare system with six hospitals

Stop by our booth to learn more about our CNS roles and the rewards we can offer you!
